

Raising Children in a Multicultural World: How to talk about difference

When our children come to us with questions or observations about race, ethnicity, gender, family structure, or any other kind of difference, how should we respond?

Wednesday, May 17, 2017, 6:00-7:30pm

Montessori Community School – Spark Center
4512 Pope Road, Durham, NC 27707

Please join us for a parent and teacher education evening at Montessori Community School with Ronda Bullock, Director of we are (working to extend anti-racist education) at Duke's Samuel DuBois Cook Center on Social Equity.

Ronda is a PhD researcher who focuses on equipping children with the tools to talk about race and difference. She is also a local parent and educator. This event is appropriate for parents and educators of children of all ages. Parents and educators from the community are welcome. Parking is free and plentiful. We are unable to provide childcare for this event.

Sponsored by the Montessori Community School PTO and the Diversity Committee.
